FOREWORD

WITHOUT A SONG

Without a song the day would never end;
Without a song the road would never bend,
When things go wrong a man ain’t got a friend
Without a song

That field of corn would never see a plow,
That field of corn would be deserted now,
A man is born but he’s no good no how
Without a song

I’ve got my trouble and woe,
But sure as I know the Jordan will roll,
I’ll get along as long as a song is strong in my soul.
I’ll never know what makes the rain to fall,
I’ll never know what makes the grass so tall,
I only know there ain’t no love at all
Without a song.
We Can't Escape
From You

Administration
MR. CRAMBLITT

"Always be your own ideal"—Defore Cramblitt, superintendent of Anacortes schools, gives his motto—A close follower of all school activities—Interested in students who have been graduated—A great optimist—Full of fun, conscientious—Over-powering energy mark him apart from other people—His advice to students "Set a high aim and work toward it."—He did this himself and certainly his work is a good example of what may be accomplished by attaining one's goal.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
Mrs. Maxine Davis Cornell
Ray Lowman
DeFore Cramblitt
Frank Taylor
J L. Rumsey

Board Of Directors
MR. HICKLIN

Principal and teacher, Wendell Hicklin has a smile for every one—Camera included—Teaches a class in solid geometry—Uses radio to make announcements—Impartial and very much interested in all school affairs—Always willing to help those who need it—He possesses a keen sense of humor and wit is second nature to him—First to school and last to leave, but the strain does not alter his disposition.

SENIOR HIGH PRINCIPAL
MISS MORRISON

Notice that rubber thimble!—That is a "shadow"—Miss Morrison always has it and the big yellow pencil—for English see Alene Morrison. Study hall is under her supervision, two out of six periods—The Girl's Club is made possible through her untiring efforts, and she is indispensable to all play casts, for she is the one who is "behind the scenes" most of the time—Practically a nurse, Miss Morrison administers "first aid" to students—Those little pieces of cotton and floss for colds, come from her.

MR. CEDERBERG

Comfort while you stand!—A more comfortable pose is hard to find—Theodore Cederberg, an enthusiastic looker, seems puzzled over something—Perhaps he has just remembered that he forgot to give his last class tomorrow's assignment, or possibly it is a new thought he has come upon as students pass between periods—Whatever it is, this brown study he's in is a most natural expression although the smile is a little subdued—Mr. Cederberg had much to do with the success of the senior play, the operetta, and the Rhododendron.

English
Take a Number From One to Ten

Dear Paul,

Here's health and luck from your friend and
Paul.

John Brown

MR. LARSON

Lennart Larson leaving for the junior high—Mr. Larson teaches physics and geometry in the senior high and social and general science in the junior high school—His first year in Anacortes schools—He once said he wanted to be a lawyer, but changed his mind and decided to be a teacher—Although he is usually very serious, occasionally one may see him smile—Studious and quiet.

MR. HICKLIN

"No, you can't work it like that."—More often than not, Wendell Hicklin may be found sitting on the next desk, explaining some problem to a student—Principalship of senior high school also keeps him busy—Easy to get along with, Mr. Hicklin is a friend of everybody—Possessed with an understanding which makes him invaluable to students, he is consulted by many pupils other than those in his classes.

Mathematics
I Don't Want to Make History

MR. SMITH

"Tomorrow I'll fight the battle of Yorktown for you."—Kirvin Smith, United States history and government, sociology and economics teacher, is intensely interested in the world and its happenings—Mr. Smith, who believes that the high school pupil should at least begin to think, is striving to teach rather indolent pupils to do that very thing—Who knows what may come of it?

MR. HILL

"Remember, current events tomorrow!"—A familiar word to those students who have Harold Hill for world history—Current events play a very important part in any history class—Mr. Hill also teaches geometry and public speaking—This is the first year that public speaking has been taught in this school, although debate has long been an important part of the school life—Under his coaching the school debate team won second place in the state tournament which was held in Tacoma.
MISS BURPEE

"Get ready for a speed test—Are you ready? Write!"—Margaret Burpee, typing and shorthand instructor, thus gets her speed tests off to a good start—it gets results. For any typing student knows what it means to his grade when he is not ready—Probably that clock has timed more tests than any other in the school—"Check your errors and don't forget to turn your copies in."

MISS MARCH

"How many of these answers are wrong?" Phyllis Larch, teacher of bookkeeping, typing, commercial geography and law, can probably tell you of more "boners" than any other teacher—Bookkeeping is a subject in which one correct answer must be obtained—Miss Larch has charge of the money part of school activities, a job by no means easy—Her classes are always lively, especially the commercial law, which invites debate often.
MR. HAMMOND

“Learn all these rules. Tomorrow, we’ll have a test”—Latin, French, and social science are the subjects. An accomplished linguist, Allen O. Hammond has traveled far in the world, and students never tire of hearing his interesting stories and anecdotes—While he is very enthusiastic over languages, they do not absorb all his time, for he is also interested in history, the French Revolution being one of his favorite subjects.

MISS CARTER

“I want your notebooks this period.”—At least once every week Miss Carter tells this sometimes-sad news to students who have neglected this essential assignment—To one who is interested in the scientific world, there is hardly a person more interesting to talk to than Mary Carter—For one who is so serious minded, she shows a great sense of humor—Miss Carter teaches chemistry, physics, and biology—The noon study hall is never a better place to study than that time when she has charge of it.
MISS MOWRER

"And so you see that home economics does have a lot to do with American life"—Sewing and cooking class periods fill Crystal Mowrer's school days—"I'm afraid you'll have to take it out," are very familiar words to those who have sewing in her classes. However, one does not mind taking it out if it looks better afterward, although it is rather tiresome to sew seven seams and rip out six—Miss Mowrer is also advisor of the Home Economics Club, one of the very few such organizations in the State.

MR. WALDRON

"Maybe we'll get her started tomorrow—she looks pretty good"—Max Waldron, industrial arts and auto mechanics instructor, telling his boys what he thinks of the car they are trying to put together—This year's exhibit displayed many of the things the boys made in his classes—If the car gets going, it may be heard all over the school and clouds of exhaust come from the mechanics laboratory—"Some job, boys!"

This is a picture of me if you know what I mean.

Max E. Waldron

Home Economics and Industrial Art
MISS BAKER

Interested in art?—Geraldine Baker, is the teacher whom you are to see in that case—Junior high school teacher, also teaches art-minded senior high students—Takes care of junior high library when Miss Kobler is not there.

MR. BREWER

“Hold it—that’s better—Now try it again”—Cyril Brewer, orchestra and band, choir and music teacher, speaking. Mr. Brewer had charge of the musical part of the operetta, the senior play, baccalaureate and graduation exercises—The annual music festival was under his direction—“All right, open your books to page 16—That’s terrible, can’t you do better?—Choir practice tomorrow—No orchestra till Thursday—What do you want to sing now?—Cut!”
MISS KOBLER

Miss Ann Kobler is librarian and study hall supervisor—Miss Kobler has succeeded in obtaining more than 200 new books for the high school library—Always busy with books or students, Miss Kobler may usually be found behind the desk in the library—Besides taking care of the library in the senior high school, Miss Kobler has charge of the junior high and grade school libraries—Many students receive excellent training in library work from Miss Kobler.

MISS ISOLANY

That laurel wreath should just fit—Constance Isolany, junior high school teacher—Dramatics director of the very successful senior play, "New Fires," and the operetta, "The Mikado,"—Teaches English and social science—Director of dramatics club.

Dramatics and Library
MISS FORCUM

"Turnout tomorrow night—Tennis next week"—Preston Forum tells ambitious, athletic-minded girls—Gym teacher and Girls’ Athletic Club advisor—Besides physical education, she teaches science and English to junior high school students—An enthusiastic reader, Miss Forcum may often be found with a magazine, "Scholastic" usually in which she is deeply absorbed that is not a string of pearls which she is holding; it’s a whistle—Knitting is her pet pastime.

MR. RHODES

"All right boys, time to dress now"—Chester Rhodes, athletic instructor warns basketball, and baseball, he has several classes to teach—His excellent coaching landed Anacortes in the District Tournament which was held in Everett—Awards and trophies in football were earned by him and his team—Not caring to be snapped in gym clothes, he quickly put on his white sweat shirt, or maybe he felt a little cold, however he is most natural in this picture.

Although Anacortes ranks third as to size among Skagit County High Schools, still it ranks first in outstanding athletes.

Only this football season, Anacortes has made a record that will be most difficult to break. It placed nine men on the all-county team and two on the Northwest. In the county games no team scored on Anacortes, except Burlington for six points in the annual Thanksgiving Day game. The championship has gone to Anacortes the two past years and from the material of this year and years to come Anacortes will always be one of the outstanding teams.

In basketball, Anacortes captured the county crown, placed third in the district meet, and took seventh in the state. Although losing all but two first-team lettermen there are plenty of good scrappers coming up from the second team, and there will be plenty of competition for positions on the first squads.

The baseball season is in its third consecutive season and Anacortes has taken the first two but due to the loss of many stars last season, Anacortes did not finish first this year. This is the only major sport in which Anacortes failed to capture the title. The coming season of next year looks more promising, for material will be plentiful.

Among the minor sports there are tennis and track. Tennis proved to be the most popular of the minor sports which ended in a perfect season with no losses. The graduation of several seniors will break up some good doubles combinations. Of these are Franulovich and Oakland who last season captured highest honors, the district championship. Although Anacortes had a one-man track team, Jack Millard, it placed third in the county meet only a half point from second place.

Winding up a summary of the sports review, we see Anacortes as one of the top schools in sports of the Northwest. Each year a new star is born into the A. H. S. and many are forgotten. One of the great all-around athletes the A. H. S. has produced is Jack Millard who is among the many graduating seniors. His ability and many others are largely due to the coaching staff who have kept Anacortes so high in sports: Mr. Chester Rhodes and Mr. Howard Boulton, who have rendered all services possible.

BADMINTON

Beginning with Spring the game played with “birds” and rackets proves to be the most popular sport with A.H.S. girls athletics. Competition is inspired at the first when partners are drawn and the fight for victory in the ladder tournament begins. It’s tense excitement and action is unexcelled.

BASKETBALL

In the inter-class basketball games, the Senior girls emerged with the honors, followed closely by the Freshman sextette. During the winter months basketball supplies plenty of keen interest and exciting combats for the Amazon minds of A.H.S.

TEENIS

Tennis brings out all the present and future Helen Wills Moodys for the Purple and White. Their turnouts enable them to battle victoriously with their scheduled opponents.

BASEBALL

Baseball turnout after school is the headquarters of every girl who can hit and catch a ball. These enthusiasts make up several smooth "nines" who can tangle with the best of them.

JOLLEY BALL

Somewhat novel, here is the game played with the large canvas ball over a volley ball net, but it is gaining in popularity every fall—and provides a strenuous after-school exercise.

Senior Play

When the Senior Class of 1937 put on "New Fires" by Charles Quimby Burdette, it proved to be one of the greatest successes produced within the walls of ye olde A. H. S. for ages 'n ages.

With Orion Rodeffer cast as Stephen Santry, distinguished author and playwright and Ermina Stetson as his society-loving wife, Anne, the audience sat through the three acts of the play, laughing and crying with the characters in the homely drama of a society-mad family cast in the wilds of the Ozark Mountains by the father who realizes that they have all lost their sense of values. The transformation that takes place amazes even Stephen and most of all the hired help. Lucinda Andrews, a widow with a soured outlook on life; Suzanne Toler, who looked helpless and defeated but was neither, and Sid Sperry, a rustic farm hand.

One of the brighter spots in the play was Gordon Benjamin's characterization of Jerry, Sid Sperry's sixteen-year-old boy. Billy and Phyllis, Stephen Santry's main worries, hold the spotlight several times with clever dialogue and their "kiddish" behavior.

To supply the needed romantic interest, Kathlene Martin, as Olive, the older daughter, falls for Dr. Lynn Gray, played by Willys Amsberry. To sweeten somewhat the many caustic remarks made by Olive, the tenderness of Stephen's elder son Dick for his young and newly married wife helped a lot.

The play was under the excellent direction of Miss Constance Isolany.

Operetta

This year’s operetta was assured of success when the ever-popular Gilbert and Sullivan production was selected.

Amid ivy-covered lattice, with a Japanese pagoda in the background, the colorful costumes of the players showed off to every advantage.

Careful selection of the cast proved itself in the choice of Lee Wilson as the much pursued Nanki-Poo and Beverly Cook as the lovely Yum-Yum.

Not to be found lacking in comedy, “The Mikado” sparkled with the capers of Dorcas White as the shrewish Katisha, Ralph Arnott as Pooh-Bah, lord-high-everything, and Louis Hendrix as the overbearing KoKo.

The first act takes place in the court yard of KoKo’s palace in Titipu. The second curtain was raised on the girl’s chorus in Ko-Ko’s garden.

Not only did the chorus provide atmosphere but lifted their voices in “glorious song.” The listeners-in were charmed with the old favorites, “The Sun and I,” sung by Beverly Cook, “The Madrigal”, “Tit Willow”, “A Wandering Minstrel,” and “Beauty In the Bellow of the Blast.”

Music was under the direction of Mr. Cyril Brewer and dramatics under the direction of Miss Constance Isolany.
